This is a holdup,
– Silent shock –
Yeah, so can I borrow some money...
The end
I don't know, money is commonly associated with power.
Hmm...
Alright then.

Act two
. . . I'll consider it.
What if I tell you the most powerful kind of person?

the depressing optimist.

Not using the board

It is...

So, what's your decision?

That does actually make a lot of sense.

I see you didn't use the board...

the closer pier or the pier with the better reputation?

where would you dock:

That's like asking someone on a boat:

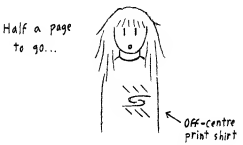
Pier pressure.

What?

Author's note

Thank you for reading "A penny for my thoughts?". I made this to work with some strange jokes I had come up with as well as to practice with doing panels.



This was originally intended to be a oneshot, but I recently made a second chapter. Anyway, I hope you found this interesting (as short as it is) and have a good day.
